

Golden Russet Bosc®

U.S. Plant Patent No. 5243

This Bosc sport was discovered on the Fuki Orchard near Parkdale, OR, and is sold under a licensing arrangement with Carlton Plants. The fruit is long and symmetrical with a uniform, golden russet overlaying yellowish-white flesh. It matures about the same time as Anjou. The trees are large and vigorous and require cross pollination.